

Sebastian Frölich

was born in the Ore Mountain of Saxony / Germany in 1985. Since 2006 he lives in Southern Germany, where he works as a freelance photographer. The focus of his photographic work are landscape and nature shots, made in very exotic places or right in front of his doorstep. As a successful autodidact, his work is broad-ranging and he also accomplishes various projects for customers in other photographic fields.

Many of his works are created using elaborate long-term exposures and other complex techniques. This reflects his individual style and often suggests a supposedly elaborate digital post-processing. However, he always tries to preserve the authenticity of the motif and to change it as little as possible afterwards. His aim is to show viewers the diversity and beauty of nature and, with that, the need for their protection.

The results of his various freelance projects are regularly exhibited in art galleries regularly and can also be found in hospitals, doctors' offices, restaurants as well as private homes. For a selection of his current work visit his website www.gallery-of-moments.com.

Sebastian Frölich
info@gallery-of-moments.com
+49 174 9424462

Are you interested in Sebastian Frölich's work or do you have a special request? Do you need a photographer for a specific project? Don't hesitate to contact him any time using the contact details as per margin and get an individual offer.